

Advice of the largest coffee dealers in the world is always to buy the old-fashioned Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee in the sealed packages. Don't ask for a pound of Mocha and Java, or buy by the price, for Coffee fluctuates and you cannot get the same coffee for the same price all the time, unless you pay too much for it. Most of the so-called Mocha and Java Coffee is simply masquerading, and is not nearly as good coffee for you as Arbuckles' ARIOSA, the blend of the Brazilian Coffees most suitable to the taste and health of American people. By the looks there is no difference between roasted Java and Brazilian Coffees; many people drink Brazilian but pay for Java. The principal difference is that Arbuckles' costs you less. It is a mistake to believe that a high price guarantees quality. When you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, you get a full one pound package of the leading Coffee of the world. Its sales for 37 years are greater than the combined sales of all the other packaged coffees. By giving better Coffee for the money, we have built up a business exceeding the combined businesses of the four next largest coffee firms in the whole world. If your dealer will not supply the genuine, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

of marvelous. Two western congressmen told me yesterday that not Bryan himself controlled and swept an audience better than the man who was charged with not being able to make a speech. And the best speech of his campaign was made impromptu at Syracuse in answer to an afternoon newspaper, put into his hands after he took his seat on the stage.

Statements of Hearst.

Here are some of Mr. Hearst's terse statements:

"I believe in good wages for good work, not because it benefits trades unions merely, but because it benefits the whole community.

"The prosperity of the legitimate business man depends upon the purchasing power of the masses.

"I am opposed to trusts, because they illegally and unjustly oppress the people, and interfere with general prosperity.

"I would rather be defeated ten times over than see the people of this state practically denied their rights as American citizens to nominate by petition.

"The enemies I have made in the trusts are your enemies, and they are my enemies because they are your enemies and because I have used my resources in helping you to fight them.

When He Would Stop.

"I do not like personalities of this kind, and I will make a proposition to Mr. Hughes in order to stop him. If Mr. Hughes will stop lying about me I will stop telling the truth about him.

"I do not question any corporation attorney's right to hold any opinion on any subject, or to argue any side of any case for a fee, but I do deny his right to question the sincerity of a man who does his best to serve his fellow citizens without a fee.

"I have no selfish desire to lead life. I am in the fight to the end, but I am willing to serve in the lead or in the ranks, as you desire.

"I have said that if Thomas Jefferson were here he would stand with us in this battle for equality, opportunity, liberty and common honesty, and any man who calls himself a Democrat and is not with us in this struggle for popular rights and common honesty is not a Democrat according to the principles of Thomas Jefferson, the founder of the Democratic party.

"If you see fit to elect me and my associates, and give us an honest legislature, I pledge you that we will restore the power to the people, and whip these corrupt corporations out of the temple of your government."

Rid yourself of the old idea that beer ranks as an intoxicant. Scientists of today term a good beer, such as Gerst beer, "a pure-food temperance beverage." Think of this, whiskey contains 51 1-2 per cent. of alcohol; brandy, 51 1-2 per cent.; sherry, 23 per cent.; champagne, 12 per cent.; but Gerst beer contains only 3 1-2 per cent. of alcohol, even less than is found in cider!

On the other hand, Gerst beer is extremely heavy in vegetable food-stuff, extracts of malt and hops. It conveys great nutrition in a form which is the least tax upon digestion, and even then, the small percentage of alcohol present aids digestion and assimilation. Drink it at home; drink it at resorts.

NEW FOOD LAW INFORMATION

Rules Governing Food-Matters Which Every House-keeper Should Know.

Buyers Will Understand Exactly What They Get.

LAW GOES INTO EFFECT ON FIRST OF YEAR AND WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED—RULES WERE PREPARED BY A SELECTED COMMISSION APPOINTED FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Regulations governing the enforcement of the pure food and drug law recently enacted have been issued through Secretary Wilson.

The regulations represent the unanimous views of the commission appointed to prepare them. This commission consisted of Dr. N. W. Bailey, of the Department of Agriculture; Dr. S. N. D. North, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and James L. Gerry, of the Treasury Department.

The regulations are believed to be thoroughly comprehensive in their scope, and it is hoped to insure the absolute purity of any food or drug product purchased.

The section of the regulations respecting labeling of products requires that the ingredients of the package shall be stated, so that the purchaser may know precisely what he is buying.

Care for Candies.

In the matter of coloring the requirement is made that no ingredient known to be deleterious to human health shall be used by manufacturers. This regulation applies with particular force to the manufacture of candies.

Adulterations, particularly of drugs, is prohibited, but standard drugs will not be considered adulterated, provided that they are branded so as to show their actual strength or purity.

Poisonous or deleterious preservatives shall only be applied externally and shall be of a kind that will not permeate to the interior of the product and the preservative must be of such a character that, until removed, the food products are inedible. Misbranding of food or drug products is guarded against particularly. The label on every product must bear the name of the product, the place of manufacture and must show whether the article is a compound, mixture or blend, and must designate the ingredients and proportions in the case of drugs and foods. The use of any false or misleading statement, design or device on the label is specifically prohibited.

Guard Against Deception.

It is known that some difference of opinion arose among the members of the commission respecting important details of the rules. As originally drafted the rules practically prohibited the use of generic names as applied to products of American manufacture. For instance, champagne, as distinguished from a kind of wine, could not be used in connection with an American wine of that kind, because it was held to be misleading, if not actually deceptive. Geographical names, generally, as applied to food or drug products, or to wines and liquors were not permitted to be used under the regulations as prepared by the commission.

Must Bear Right Names.

When the regulations were submitted to the secretaries of the three departments for approval some changes were made in them of a very important character. The use of geographical names, for instance, was provided for in cases where it was thought the names were generic or distinctive. It was provided, however, that it should be indicated on the package containing the product that it was of American manufacture. Thus champagne or California champagne, so that the purchaser, while he knows that he is getting a certain kind of wine, knows also that the wine is made in America and not in France. The regulations apply to other products in a similar way.

Scope of Regulations.

In brief, the regulations provide as follows:

The label on any product shall be attached to an original, unbroken package.

Samples of original packages shall be collected only by authorized agents of the agricultural department or by state, territorial or district officials authorized by the secretary of

WOMAN LIVED LIKE BEAST

Had Roamed in Forest For Eleven Years In Perfectly Savage State.

Geneva, Nov. 3.—A woman, who has been living in a savage state in the forest near the village of Scientrier, Haute Savoie (a few miles from Geneva) was arrested some days ago and taken to the hospital of St. Julien, on the French frontier.

"La Suisse," a local paper, published interviews with the French authorities concerning the affair. The Mayor of Scientrier says: "On December 12th, last, I was informed, for the first time, that an unclothed woman was hiding in the forest of my commune. I gave the necessary orders for her arrest, but in spite of our activity we failed to capture her. As she did not give any trouble and appeared harmless I took no further steps.

"The other day I received a formal complaint from an inhabitant concerning the woman, who it was stated, took the food left for his pigs.

"By the advice of the prefect I arranged a party of gendarmes and citizens to capture the woman, but it was only on the third day that we managed, after a long chase to seize her as she was sleeping in a thicket. She was brought to my house and locked up in a room. It was all several persons could do to wash and dress the woman, who looked like a savage beast. She did not seem to understand my questions, but I had reasons to believe that she was a lady."

After careful inquiries I discovered this morning that the woman has been identified by birthmarks as Mme. Nicolle, who left her husband's home at Oronvaux eleven years ago. It is believed, judging from her physical condition, that she has spent the whole of that time in a savage state in the forest.

Her husband, a wealthy man, died recently, bequeathing to his lost wife a comfortable income.

BULL'S LIFE SAVED BY AUDIENCE

Madrid, Nov. 3.—An unusual occurrence is reported from Valladolid, a bull being released at a bull fight. The bull which was a particularly fine animal and called Aideo, fed out of the hand of his keeper and would follow him like a dog. These facts became known to the public who applauded Aideo when he was let into the arena.

The keeper cried bitterly that his friend would be killed, and his sobs so distracted the matador during the fight, that the torero became nervous, and instead of killing the bull with a blow of his knife, only wounded him in the shoulder.

The audience hushed the claps, and then demanded that the bull's life be spared. So great was the uproar that the president of the bull-fight was obliged to declare that Aideo should not be killed.

DON'T BE A PESSIMIST!

Believe in yourself and your country, we are entering upon an era of development and prosperity unparalleled in the history of the world. The man who realizes this fact is the man who will succeed. This country is all right. The resources of this great land have only been scratched. The next fifty years will see wonders in the way of development that even we do not dream of.

These are the recent utterances of one of the richest of the self made men of this country. He has made millions because he had the brains to realize that the natural growth of this wonderful country of ours inevitably means increase in values. He didn't get out of the way of the opportunities that confronted him, and that confront every man every day of his life.

What he said applies to PENSACOLA. Her resources too have only been scratched on the surface. The man who can allow this simple fact to filter through his cranium, has in it a capital worth thousands of dollars to him if he will apply the knowledge.

People will be selling Pensacola real estate at good profits one year, five years, ten years, fifty years from now. Every man who stops to think will realize the truth of this statement. "Get in the game."

agriculture. The analysis may be made in certain conditions.

A drug bearing a name recognized in the United States pharmacopoeia or national formulary shall conform in strength, quality and purity to prescribed standards.

Manufacturers of proprietary foods are required to state on the label only the names and percentages of the materials used, to prevent adulteration and misbranding. The factories where proprietary foods are manufactured must be open to inspection by properly designated officers.

No dealer in food or drug products shall be liable to prosecution if he can establish that the goods are sold under a guaranty by the wholesaler manufacturer or jobber or other party residing in the United States from whom purchased.

Bar Mineral Substances.

Mineral substances of all kinds are specially forbidden in confectionery, whether they be poisonous or not. Only harmless colors or flavors shall be added to confectionery.

No substance may be mixed or packed with a food product which will reduce its quality or strength. In food products only harmless colors may be used, and the reduction of a substance to a powder to conceal inferiority in character is prohibited.

Any food product which contains naturally a poisonous or deleterious ingredient does not come within the provision of the food and drug act, except when the presence of such ingredient is due to filth, putrescence or decomposition.

The secretary of agriculture shall determine the wholesomeness of colors, preservatives and other substances which are added to foods, and he shall, when necessary, examine the raw materials used in the manufacture of food and drug products.

Respecting the labels to be used by manufacturers, the requirements for which, in effect, have been noted above, it is required that they shall be printed in English the form and appearance of the labels, with certain restrictions, to be left to the manufacturer. The regulations regarding the particular label will not be enforced until October 1, 1907. In case the labels now on hand conform in effect to the provisions of the act, the words "packed for—" "Distributed by—" or some equivalent phrase shall be added to the label in case the name which appears on the label is not that of the actual manufacturer or producer, or the name of the place not the actual place of manufacture or production.
